

Thiago de Moraes Virtual Author

We loved that he drew two of our historical ideas: Cleopatra pulling a cracker with Tutankhamun and a mince pie falling on Isaac Newton's head!

We liked how he combined all the different ideas and how he went with the flow!

He gave lots of tips as he went and answered the questions in detail.

We were going to suggest Zeus casting lightning down from the top of the tree.

We love how he combines history with art!

He answered our question and said how much he enjoys learning about the history of people.

We loved how he used comedy in his drawings!

He put such a variety of characters together that you wouldn't expect to see which we thought was so cool!

We loved how he brought everyone's ideas to life and made them so realistic.

He seemed really committed to the thing he loves doing which was so inspiring.

It was great to learn lots about the author like when he started drawing and what inspires him.
